Explanation

The end-user tariff for Mogas 95 decreases compared to the previous month, mainly as a result of lower international purchase prices.

The end-user tariff for Gasoil (U)LSD also decreases due to lower international purchase prices. In the case of Gasoil (U)LSD, there is also a substantial (negative) surplus/deficit component. Strong fluctuations in international prices during the past few months resulted in significant differences between the regulated purchase prices which are calculated in advance and the purchase prices ultimately realized. These differences are corrected through the surplus/deficit component.
